Course Description:
This class provides an overview of the concepts of British Object Middle School beginning with D. W. Winnicott. We will consider his theoretical perspective which made substantial contributions to our understanding of very early development. Next we will review his approach to psychopathology and treatment before comparing these ideas to his contemporary contributors then to current perspectives.

Course Objectives:
1. Participants will compare and contrast the developmental models of Winnicott and other Middle Group Analysts with Contemporary Freudians and Kleinians.
2. Participants will compare and contrast the treatment approach of Winnicott and other Middle Group Analysts with Contemporary Freudians and Keinians.
